Flag Football in Los Angeles and across California

Flag football is growing rapidly in Los Angeles and across California, driven by increased school participation, especially for girls, and the sport's Olympic inclusion at the LA28 games. The California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) sanctioned the sport for girls in 2023, leading to an 84% increase in schools offering it and a surge in players, positioning California as a leader in the sport. High-profile initiatives like the Snoop & Housh Flag Football League, operated by NFL Flag and supported by the Los Angeles Chargers, are also fostering youth development and community engagement.
